Teachers provide students with

KEYS TO UNDERSTANDING.

English Social Studies Science Music
Industrial Arts Math Art Home Economics
Health Athletics

Unlocking the future for middle school students can be an overwhelming task; both for students and teachers. DeKalb Middle School teachers seem to have met this challenge head on and won every time. Making good use of instructional time and extracurricular time, teachers impart to students the knowledge and skills that will be the keys to the students' futures. Although the main emphasis is on academic endeavors, all students are given a chance to experience different aspects of life in order that they might better understand life as they become adults. Students are exposed to many career choices through Project Business, Science Fair projects, Young Authors books, the choral and band concerts, musicals, industrial arts projects, art displays, yearbook and newspaper staffs, and many other extra curricular activities. Students at DMS have proven beyond a shadow of a doubt that they hold the keys to their future.

Geography Bee

The second annual Geography Bee was conducted in all sixth, seventh, and eighth grade social studies classes. The bee was sponsored by National Geographic and prizes were awarded to the winners by Nation Geographic and DeKalb Middle School

During the first three days of the bee, students were asked standardized questions that pertained to geography. This continued during their social studies periods until a class winner was chosen. Following this, finalists met during their home room period in a run-off competition. The winner of the school competition then was given a written exam that would later be submitted the National Geographic Committee for evaluation.

If Adam Schaffer's written score falls above the cut-off line, he will then have an opportunity to participate in a regional exam which will take place later in the spring.

The Patriots of DeKalb Middle School went to the Superbowl for the first time in 1990. The Academic Superbowl, that is! The goal: to learn and answer as many questions as possible about the contributions of ancient Greece.

The middle school sponsored teams that competed in four subject areas which incuded: English, science, math, and social studies. In addition, the Patriots also selected an "all around" team that would challenge competitors throughout the state.

Coaches Mrs. McCurdy and Mrs. DeWitt were pleased and excited about student response to the competition. Mrs. DeWitt

THE PATRIOTS' PRESS

What's the scoop?

The Patriots' Press published three issues before Christmas and three issues during the second semester. The gossip column, Dear Dr. DMS, made a fresh appearance and staff members worked hard to provide their readers with interesting, informative stories. Articles from the students were published as well.

Staff members wore many hats. They interviewed, wrote, and reviewed articles. They took pictures and created artwork. They used the computer and pasted up layout pages. They advertised the paper with posters and announcements. Last but not least, they sold the finished papers to the students. This year the circulation of the Patriot's Press increased by 25% thanks to their hard work. Mrs. Roe

First year, a big success

This was the first year for DMS to participate in the Academic Spell Bowl. Try-outs were held early in the fall, and practice began immediately. The team practiced after school usually two or three nights a week for about an hour and a half. Team members worked hard but had fun too, especially playing "Stump the Coach".

Spelling bowl teams competed at area meets on November 11. Although all teams spelled simultaneously, they actually competed only against other teams in their enrollment classification. Since DMS is a relatively large school, it competed in class 1 at New Haven. DeKalb scored 46 our of a possible 64 points to win its class at the area meet but did not qualify for the state meet.

I consider our first year at the Academic Spell Bowl to be a great success. Enthusiasm for the program was strong and many team membbers plan to continue the competition next year.

Students receive awards

Artist of the week is an award established to honor outstanding achievement by DMS students in art. Each student chosen has his or her work displayed in the commons showcase. Each student recieves a certificate, notebook, pen, and has their name announced on the P.A. Sixth, seventh, and eighth graders are eligible for this award.

Music

Keys inspire students.

Increasing numbers march and perform.

The DMS marching band, with over two hundred players and four twirlers, won a first place in the Class C division at the DeKalb County Fair. Christmas came early in December when the band's concert featured some well known holiday favorites. The sixth grade band entertained the audience with their first performance of the year during the Cabaret Concert. The eighth and seventh grade bands performed selections they would later take to the ISSMA organizational contest. The final performance showcased the students' hard work all year and ended with the annual mass band selection which brought the audience to a standing ovation.

Choir's effort pleases director

The choral department increased its numbers this year and all choirs worked very hard preparing for various concerts and programs. Each choral group strived for excellence in the areas of music performance as well as music theory and concepts.

The music department's magazine sale was a success this year with record breaking sales. With the profits, the choir purchased a new digital piano. The ISSMA Solo and Ensemble contest for voice and piano students was held in February. All of our students worked very hard and DMS did very well.

Midpoint

Midpoint is comprised of forty seventh and eighth grade students who sing three point music of all styles. The group is actively involved in performing for community events and invitational performances.

Highlights of the year included performing for the DeKalb Health Care Center, the DHIA Dairy Farmers Association dinner and the choir's fourth performance at the Northrop Show Choir Spectacular.

The success that Midpoint has achieved continues to be centered around the countless hours that are spent in rehearsing for various programs. We hope that our program will continue to be as successful as it has been in the past.

The participants are judged on their twirling ability. The majorettes perform a marching routine in the DeKalb County Saturday Parade and a dance and twirl routine at basketball halftime shows. The majorettes also perform at exhibitions and in area twirling contests.

Majorettes: C. Conkle, D. Maldeney, H. Norton, T. Brinkman, and M. Hogan.

Set for the future

Coach proud of team's 11-1 record

The Patriot seventh grade volleyball team had an exceptional season by winning all but one of its games and securing the Tri-County Tournament Championship. The team displayed a lot of desire and never gave up. They came from behind in five matches to outlast their opponents. They overpowered many teams with strong, consistant serving along with skilled passing, setting, and spiking. The Patriots fell to defeat only once this season against Carroll but during this match the Patriots set an over all team record for all stats.

This is a Baron team of the future. They have learned many things this season. Among them, what it means to work hard on personal and team goals. They know how to make a difference on and off the floor. They have improved their own skill level and team play to bring about a winning season. Coach Hayes

Seasoned Champions

Team performs well with 11-2 record

The eighth grade volleyball team started the season with five consecutive wins. Then a tough Kendallville team dealt the girls their first loss. But, the loss made them aware that they had to work a little harder and the team won their next three matches. The final match of the season was played at Garrett and brought the girls their second loss. This closed the season with an 8-2 record.

First year coach, Karen Carter was extremely pleased with the natural talent the team displayed and was especially proud of the way the girls defeated both Kendallville and Garrett to win the Tri-County Conference Tournament.

New coach impressed

Team records 5-1-1 record

The seventh grade football team did well this year by winning four games and collecting one forfeit. The Patriots were also challenged in one tie game with Carroll and a defeat at the hands of Garrett.

1. Coach Hardesty displays some concern after the oppostition scores a touchdown.
2. Brad Weber crashes through the line for some much needed yardage.

Win, loose, or draw, the team kept a winning attitude. This was obvious by their hard work during practice which helped them win the last game of the season against Woodside who was undefeated. The Patriots seem to have mastered the fundamentals of the game and I expect that they will do well as eighth graders.

Patriots capture conference championship

Team posts 6-1 record

Coaches Dickson and Holwerda led the eighth grade football team to another conference championship this year. The Patriots, lacking physical size and experience, anchored their offense and defense by working on the basic fundamentals during practice and employing these techniques during the games.

This year's team ran a variety of offensive formations including: wishbone, power I, and double tight. In addition, many of the players had the opportunity to gain experience by playing more than one position. Coaches Dickson and Holwerda praised the team for their hard work and dedication.

Patriots outdistance competition

Tri-County Conference champs finish season 4-2

This year the cross country team again proved that hard work brings success. Throughout the season the Patriot runners have worked on improving their times and supporting their fellow teammates. In the midst of their stiffest competition, the Patriots rallied to the occasion and withstood the challenge. During the Tri-County Conference Meet at the end of the season, the team put all of their hard work and experience together to outdistance their closest opponent by 33 points. Coach Freels completing season with 10-4 record.

The 1989-90 seventh grade boy's basketball squad was composed of a group of kids who were determined to get better. Loosing the first two games of the season, the Patriots came into their own and won ten of their next twelve games. At the Tri-County Conference the team played well and took Angola into an overtime before loosing the championship game by only one point.

Tri-County Conference champs

record 12-2 season.

The DeKalb eighth grade boy's basketball team had an outstanding year winning twelve of their fourteen games. The team worked hard during practices and was well prepared to meet their opponents. The Patriots played agressive defense and limited the opposition to thirty points per game. Great ball movement, a fast breaking offense, and teamwork were keys to team scoring. It is obvious that the work and dedication of this year's team will bring success at the high school level.

The team deserves special recognition for being Tri-County champs for two consecutive years. Congratulations, Patriots!

Coach sees many improvements

Patriots off to a good start this year.

I really enjoy working with this team. They are very coachable and have a strong desire to win. Each member of this team has made considerable improvements on her game since the season began. This has made working with each girl rewarding and enjoyable as a coach.

Personally, these girls have a great sense of humor and I feel that throughout the season we have grown closer as a team. I expect with hard work many of the girls on this team will go on and make significant contri-butions to the DeKalb basketball program.

Team praised for determination

Many individual goals achieved

It has been my pleasure to coach this group of young athletes both as 7th and 8th graders. I have been impressed with their enthusiasm, positive mental attitude, and willingness to learn. Our primary goal this year was to gain experience through game and parctice situations. The team accomplished this goal by making a committment to excellence that was evident not only in practice but during competition. I extend my appreciation to the 8th grade Lady Patriots for their cooperation.

Cheerleaders

add to school spirit.

The seventh and eighth grade cheerleaders attended the International Cheerleading Camp at Ball State University in August 1989. During this time Melanie Hogan and Amy Oswalt were nominated as most spirited. The eighth grade squad also qualified to attend the International Competition in Nashville, Tennessee.

The girls worked very hard this year supporting the school athletic program and promoting school spirit.

Student Government

provides key leadership for DMS students.

The student council started off the 1989-90 school year attending a seminar at Village Woods Middle School. Our first campaign of the year was the Red Ribbon Day pledge to be drug free. The student council also worked to help eliminate trash in the cafeteria with a "Stash That Trash" campaign. The "Christmas in Hawaii" dance resulted in students wearing tropical clothes on the coldest day of the year. The sale of shamrocks for the Muscular Distrophy Fund was given a lot of support by the students. In addition the student council became actively involved in orgainzing a variety of Spirit Days. These included: Hat Day, College Day, and Career Day. Mrs. Thornton

Baseball cards and autographs

Roger Deetz is an eighth grade student who enjoys collecting baseball cards. He has been collecting these for over two years and has almost forty-thousand in his collection. Roger stated that he specializes in unopened material and older singles. His favorite cards are a 1969 Tom Seaver which is worth about sixty dollars and an Ernie Banks that is worth twenty dollars. Among Roger's most prized possessions is his 1977 Tops Dale Murphy which he stated was worth "quite a bit of money."

In addition to his collection of cards, Roger has also collected several other articles of baseball memorabilia. Among these is a baseball signed by Jim Abbott and a number of autographs taken during an "89" spring training game.

Roger is very active in his hobby and has attended a four day convention in Atlantic City. When asked if he enjoyed his hobby he replied, "I like collecting baseball cards and other memorabilia in the future because it is a reflection on the sport and can be very profitable."

Students should set goals

Mr. Oswalt, and eighth grade math teacher at DMS was born and raised around Dayton, Ohio. A graduate of Northmont High School, he attended Manchester College where he majored in math. After graduation Mr. Oswalt returned to Ohio where he taught for two years. He received his Masters Degree in Education at Indiana University.

Mr. Oswalt choose teaching as a profession because he likes kids and enjoys math. He finds teaching especially rewarding when a student shows an interest in school and works to his full potential. Mr. Oswalt stated that "I have tried to prepare my students for the future by presenting them with concepts, mathematical ideas, factual material, and rules that may help them become more successful." He also feels that students should set goals and work hard to achieve their objectives.

Mr. Oswalt's pastimes include golfing and "messing around." He enjoys professional sports, following the Colts and Reds.

A very challenging hobby

Lindsey Dunn is a thirteen-year-old who lives on a farm outside Waterloo. Lindsey, pictured with her appaloosa, Gypsy, has been riding for two years and vaulting for about a year and a half. Vaulting is a type of gymnastics that a person does on the back of a horse while it is walking, trotting, or cantering in a circle. Lindsey stated that to be a good vaulter took "courage and a very good sense of balance."

Lindsey first became interested in vaulting when she attended the Red Cedar Riding Academy. At the academy, she learned basic riding techniques and five main vaulting positions. Lindsey stated that each vaulting position presented a different challenge. Her favorite, the "flag" is performedwhen kneeling on the horse's back with the right arm straight in front and the leg held in position parallel to the horse's back.

Lindsey has never entered in vaulting competition and does not plan to do so in the near future.

Students must want to learn

An Auburnite, Mrs. Bard grew up in a large family with one sister and three brothers. As a student she enjoyed school and had a deep respect for many of her teachers. Mrs. Bard later attended Michigan State and received her teaching degrees from IPFW.

Mrs. Bard is now involved in teaching language arts to seventh grade students at the middle school. She feels that language arts is important because reading is something that you'll need all of your life and that grammar helps you understand what you read. She also stated that, "Letter grades seem necessary because parents and students expect them." Mrs. Bard feels that too many students work only for grades and that, "This devalues learning for its own sake." While preparing her students for the future, she would like to see her students develope a "life long desire to learn."

Mrs. Bard remains very active after school hours. In addition to taking care of a family of four, she is active in a sorority, gardens, and attends sporting events.

If you like spiders and snakes..

Twelve-year-old Jason Braun has a unique hobby. He and his family collect spiders and snakes. Jason has one boa constrictor, five pythons, and one tarantula named Harry. The snakes are kept in wood and plexiglass tanks in the living room, while Harry resides in a smaller but similar type tank in Jason's bedroom.

"Snakes and spiders are easy to keep and really don't require much care." Jason feeds his snakes small rats and mice and his spider crickets. Jason said that his pythons will grow between twenty and thirty feet in length and will sometimes go for as long as two months without eating. "Most snakes of this size," he stated, "will live as long as twenty years."

Jason and the family have been involved in this hobby for over a year and recommend it if "you have a natural liking for snakes or spiders."

Students control their own destiny

A native of Indiana, Ms. Zook grew up in Muncie and was a graduate of Muncie Central High School. An honor student, she went on to Ball State and earned a Bachelor's and Master's Degree in Education.

Ms. Zook chose to become a teacher because she liked children and viewed teaching as a challenging profession. As a sixth grade health teacher, she feels that her subject area is very important because "What the kids learn in the health classroom can be used throughout their lives." Ms. Zook stated that she is trying to prepare her students for the future by making them realize that they can control their own lives. By doing this, she feels that, "They will have more opportunities to succeed and accomplish their goals."

After school and during vacation Ms. Zook enjoys playing the piano, reading, and aroebics. An avid sports fan, she keeps active playing golf, skiing, and following her favorite teams which include the Boston Celtics, Chicago Bears, Purdue, and IU.

Administration and Faculty

The administration and faculty work together to provide each student with an opportunity to prepare for the future. All activities planned for students, after school or during the school day, are designed with the student as the main emphasis. This careful ballance of social and academic activities gives the students a key to the future.

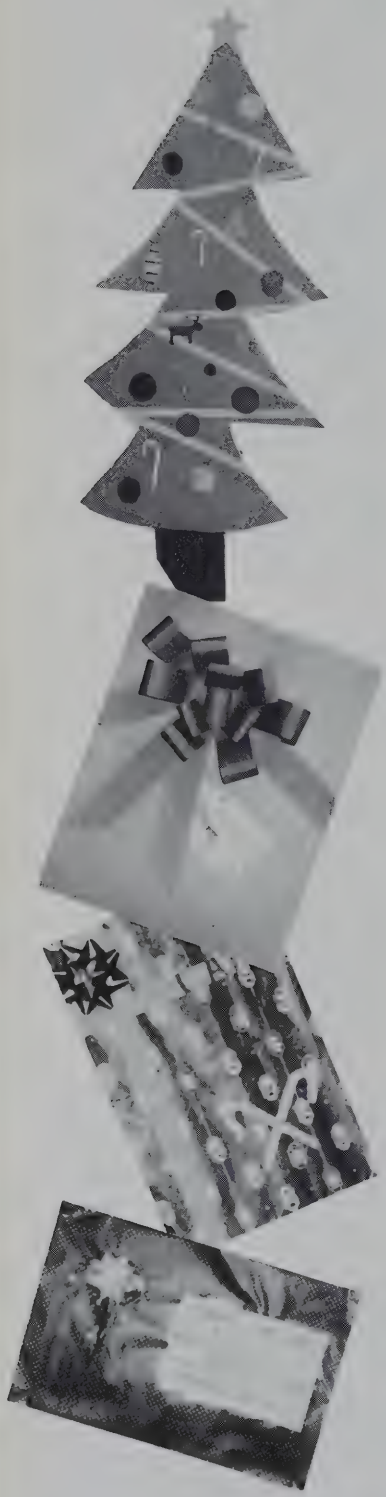
Celebrate Christmas



Wish you were here!

December is a very special time of the year at DMS. Feelings of expectation and goodwill seem prevalent throughout the building. In the hustle and bustle of daily activity, students and faculty busy themselves making preparations for programs and projects that reflect the true meaning of the season.
